Constantino to Counter Democrats' Attempt to Shut Down Local Business

Constantino for Congress will foot the bill for a FREE Cage Wars event at the Glens Falls Cool Insuring Arena on February 7th, 2025 following an improper attack by a Democrat politician on the locally-owned Cage Wars MMA business in retribution for their relationship with him.

“A little bird told me a Democrat politician illegally pressured Rivers Casino to give Cage Wars the boot to hurt me,” said Anthony Constantino. “I immediately decided to support this great local business by throwing a bigger event at the historic Glens Falls Cool Insuring Arena.”

“Cage Wars has been the #1 event at Rivers Casino for 8 years in a row. The casino loved us until Mr. Constantino, who’s our top sponsor, became a vocal Trump supporter, which is his personal preference,” said Tim Rankins, CEO Cage Wars. “I never expected to be targeted simply because I accepted a sponsorship from a Trump supporter.”

Roger Stone and Jorge Masvidal will make guest appearances to speak in support of Cage Wars, along with Mr. Constantino who is running for Congress to fill the seat being vacated by Elise Stefanik. Mr. Constantino is also expected to address perceived illegal actions by a Democrat Politician during the event.

The total cost of this historic trip, including travel, accommodations, meals, and equipment, is approximately $350,000. MVSU is committed to ensuring that every student can participate regardless of financial circumstances. The university asks alumni, supporters, and the community to support this monumental endeavor.

"This is not just a moment of pride for our university but for the entire state of Mississippi," said Dr. Jerryl Briggs, MVSU President. "It is an opportunity to showcase our legacy, celebrate our culture, and invest in the future leaders of our community." This participation allows students to engage in the peaceful transition of power and gain global exposure while celebrating the university's 75th anniversary," Briggs added.
